SOURCE Documentary (Radio Broadcast monitored)

The two medium-wave stations, BED2 and BED34, have not been jammed so far as can be ascertained. Observations for jamming of the short-wave transmitter BED6 are thus far inconclusive. Jamming of the short-wave transmitter BED7 continues daily. The jamming transmitter periodically interrupts transmission to send a two-letter identification signal consisting of the letters UN; it is received most strongly on the antenna bearing 357 degrees true from Bolo Point, Okinawa.
